“MEANINGFUL ENGAGEMENT AND PARTICIPATION OF CHILDREN AND YOUTH IN DRR, CLIMATE ACTION TO STRENGTHEN COMMUNITY RESILIENCE”

By. Vanda Lengkong, Regional Head of DRM

Plan International Asia Pacific

Presented at the APMCDRR 2022 Partner Event hosted by ADRC in Brisbane, 21 September 2022

WHY IS IT IMPORTANT TO ENGAGE CHILDREN AND YOUTH IN DRR AND CLIMATE ACTION AND COVID-19 PREVENTION & RECOVERY?

Almost one billion young people aged 10-24 years living in low- and middle income countries in Asia and the Pacific, representing 23.7% of people in the Asia Pacific and accounting for 60% of the world's adolescents and young adults
(UNFPA, June 2021)

1 in 3 children and young people is out of school in countries affected by war or climate-related disasters

Children and young people, especially girls, in many parts of this region, are often undervalued and underestimated
(Plan International)

Impact of COVID-19
In Asia and the Pacific regions, schools serving 62 million children have been completely closed due to lock downs during the pandemic
(UNICEF, 2021)

Extreme weather events and impacts are expected to push 100 million people including girls and youth back into poverty by 2030

“Children and Youth involvement in Disaster Risk Reduction and #ClimateAction needs to be considered seriously as solution not only for information”

WHAT HAPPENED IN BRISBANE

“Children, Youth and their caregivers should be engage at grassroots level to develop a child & youth centered access to disaster education and preparedness”

Iremide, Youth Activists from Australia

THE ADDED VALUE OF ENGAGING CHILDREN AND YOUTH

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR STRENGTHENING SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT AND EMPOWERING THE NEXT GENERATION OF LEADERS TO BE AWARE OF ENVIRONMENTAL RISKS

in line with the recognition of children and youth as agent of change in Sendai Framework of Disaster Risk Reduction (SFDRR)

THEY HAVE CAPACITY, CREATIVE AND INNOVATIVE

When they are empowered and equipped with sufficient knowledge and access to disaster and climate education, they will be able to provide important inputs for DRR efforts and contribute to identifying solutions to both protect themselves in disasters, and increase the adaptation capacity of their communities.

KEY ROLES OF CHILDREN AND YOUTH IN DRR AND CLIMATE ACTION THAT CONTRIBUTE IN STRENGTHENING COMMUNITY RESILIENT

RISK
IDENTIFIER

RISK
COMMUNICATORS

AGENT OF CHANGE

AS RISK IDENTIFIER

Girls and boys from Indonesia who learn to identify the climate related risk using the Climate's cards for children in East Nusa Tenggara

Also girls in Viet Nam and boys and girls in Thailand to identify the disaster hazard and risk in their schools using the multi hazard assessment tool as part of the implementation of Child Centered Disaster Risk Reduction project with Plan International

AS RISK COMMUNICATORS

I became interested in working on this committee.

Nayon, a 17 year-old teenager with special needs from Bangladesh, a member of DRR committee and increase his knowledge and skills in disaster risk management and furthermore become a champion in raising awareness about the importance of engaging ALL people in DRR process and in the decision-making process #NoOneLeftBehind

In Timor Leste and Myanmar, Plan International partnering with Youth organization in the implementation of multi hazard project – strengthening the capacity of local Civil Society Organization and promote meaningful engagement of youth and integrate protection issue

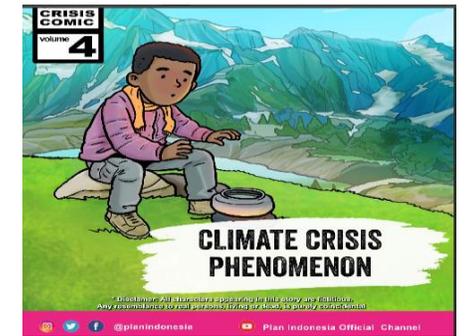

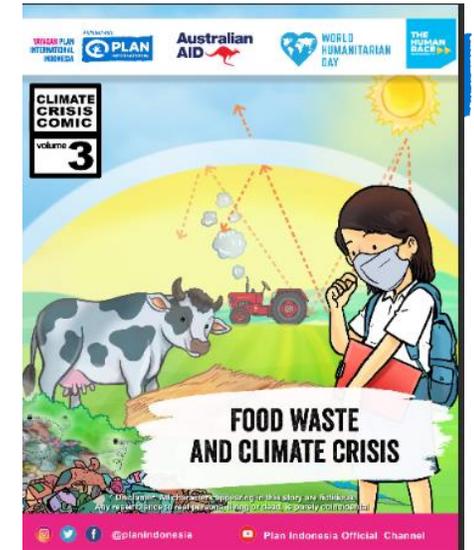

AS AN INNOVATIVE AGENT OF CHANGE

In Indonesia, youth in urban Jakarta initiate an innovative floods early warning system

Provide inputs to Plan Indonesia in the development of a series of climate crisis comic for a available in Bahasa and English version

"Kanaga and the 'Friends of the Earth's journey in saving the environment" The youth are trying to battle the ongoing climate crisis

AS AN INNOVATIVE AGENT OF CHANGE

In Bangladesh, Youth group identifying new ways for addressing the impacts of climate change using pre-existing community assets, improving both their own, and their communities.

In Thailand, Girls are empowered to create ICT based solution for DRR and CCA

CONCLUSION

- Plan International believe all children and youth in particular girls should enjoy full and equal access to their rights, and this should not be hindered by the threat of climate change
#NoOneLeftBehind.
- Upholding their rights and strengthening their meaningful participation in DRR, COVID-19 prevention and recovery and climate decisions and action must therefore be a priority
- Plan International support girls, boys and youth to understand disaster risks, climate change, its impacts and how they can adapt. We encourage them to take the lead on climate action and adaptation in their countries to support strengthen community resilience to disaster.
